REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

1918-1919

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN OF THE SEMINARY.

FOR THE YEAR 1918-1919.

STAFF

Throughout this year the regular staff has consisted of the Librarian and the Cataloguer only. In consequence it has been necessary to keep the Bible Room closed and to engage the services of a number of students and of the Bursar's clerk (in his off hours) for various routine jobs of general library work. As in previous years, student help has been used also for the special summer duties of taking the inventory and cleaning the books, and for the loan desk work on Saturday afternoons and in the evenings throughout the term.

NEEDS.

Since the departure of Miss Thompson, the second library assistant, in May, 1918, it has been necessary to make use of student help in the afternoons for a variety of general library jobs, such as reshelving books, preparing new volumes for cataloguing, marking and varnishing book-labels, checking bibliographies, etc. The arrangement has proved only partly satisfactory. The students are not equipped for any but the simpler forms of library work. The hours they can give are scattered about the week in a way that often precludes the finishing of a job by the student who started it. Examinations and holidays interrupt. It is impossible to give one variety of activity altogether to one man, and hold him responsible for it. To be sure, we have had both faithful and intelligent workers, and at least the necessary routine has been handled, it is hoped, with some approach to adequacy. Nevertheless, the Librarian feels it incumbent on him to state that the method itself is at best a makeshift, and that as soon as conditions permit, Miss Thompson should have a successor.

For the Library Committee.

GEORGE DOBBIN BROWN,
Librarian.
